REQUISITIONS FOR ADMISSION.

No student shall be admitted unless he presents to the president suitable testimonials of good moral character; and if he comes from another college, he must also present a certificate of regular dismission, and of good standing in the institution he has left.

The earliest age at which it would be advantageous for a student to enter the collegiate classes is, if a male, at the close of his fifteenth year; if a female, at the close of her thirteenth year; but the president is authorized to matriculate a student at an earlier age, provided sufficient and peculiar reasons exist, and his parent or guardian places him or her under such moral supervision as may be satisfactory to himself.

The form of matriculation is as follows: A student who wishes to enter upon the collegiate course, either regular or partial, must first present his testimonials to the president, who, if satisfied with his evidences of good moral character, will admit him as a candidate for examination, and direct him to the officers by whom he will be examined. If the examination be satisfactory, the student will then procure and read a copy of the laws of the university, after which he shall again call on the president and sign a declaration of his deliberate intention to obey the laws of the university so long as he shall remain a member of it. As soon as a student is matriculated the president shall furnish his parent or guardian a copy of the laws of the university.

OF PUNISHMENT.

Section 1. Male students under sixteen years of age are, in the discretion of their respective teachers, at any time, subject to the infliction of corporeal punishment for misconduct or inattention to duty.

Section 2. Male students over sixteen years of age, when they shall be guilty of misconduct or inattention to duty, shall also be subject to corporeal punishment, after regular trial before the faculty, and a unanimous verdict on their part that such is the proper course of correction.

Section 3. Female students under twelve years are subject to corporeal punishment. Those over twelve years of age are subject to private or public repremand, a dishonorable dismissal, a definite or an indefinite suspension from the university, at the direction of the faculty.

The faculty may vote to administer a public or private repremand, a public or private infliction of corporeal punishment to male students, as in sections 1 and 2, and to females, as in section 2, a dishonorable dismission, or a definite or an indefinite suspension; but they can only recommend the expulsion of a student, and refer the same for the action of the board of trustees.

LAWS, ETC.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Each recitation shall continue one hour, unless otherwise ordered by the faculty, a portion of which time shall be occupied in reviewing the recitation of the previous day.

Immediately after the daily recitations of each student, the professor shall affix a numerical mark to his name, designating the value of his recitation. For a perfect recitation the number shall be five; for an imperfect one a smaller number; and for a failure zero. If the deficiency has been satisfactorily explained before the commencement of the recitation—that is, if it has arisen from circumstances over which the student had no control—no other mark shall be added. If the explanation is unsatisfactory, or if no explanation be offered, it shall incur an additional demerit mark of from two to five.

Disturbances in the chapel, or lecture-room, or in any part of the college premises, shall incur a demerit of from two to five.

Absence at the time of calling the roll, unless previous permission be granted, or the reason why that permission could not be requested, be rendered previous to 12 M. of the subsequent day, shall incur a demerit of from two to five.

Absence from rooms after dark and before 9 P.M., a demerit of five; if after 9 P.M., a demerit of ten.

Any student guilty of playing at cards, or any other game of hazard, shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

Any student who shall oppose or speak against the decisions and established rules of the faculty in presence of other students, shall be publicly repremanded, and on the second offense shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

Any student who shall be guilty of licentiousness, using ardent spirits, or visiting drinking establishments, shall be suspended or otherwise severely punished.

No student shall be guilty of nocturnal disorders or revelings, or become connected with any dancing-school, society, or social club, without the approval of the faculty; and for a violation of this rule, such a student shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

Any student who shall absent himself from the university, without permission of his parent, guardian, or the faculty, shall be ipso facto suspended.

No suspended student shall come within the college campus but shall retire to such place, and for such time, as shall be prescribed by the faculty; and for the violation of this rule he shall be liable to expulsion.

Any student who shall associate with an expelled student shall be subject to suspension.

Each student is required to attend some Sabbath-school, and also some religious worship on the Sabbath.

When the demerits of any student, for any term, amount to twenty, it shall be the duty of the president to inform his parent or guardian of the fact; and when his demerits amount to fifty to dismiss him from the university, or otherwise punish him, and inform his parent or guardian of the fact.

On Monday of every week each officer shall make to the president a report of the standing of every student for the week preceding.

As the object of discipline is to promote mental and moral culture, and to restrain vice, the following laws shall be strictly observed.

Each student shall pursue dilligently the course of study prescribed for him by the faculty; and, failing to do so, he shall first be affectionately admonished by the faculty, and, unless reclaimed, shall be suspended from the institution or otherwise punished.

If a student is unable, from ill-health, to pursue his studies, he shall immediately request a leave of absence. Until such leave be obtained he is held responsible for the discharge of his duties. When such leave of absence is granted, the president shall immediately notify the parent or guardian of the fact.

Any student guilty of using profane language shall be publicly reprimanded, and for the third offence shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

No student shall carry about his person, or keep, fire-arms or other dangerous weapons; and if found guilty shall be suspended or otherwise punished.

Any student that shall be too late to recitation shall receive two demerits.

Any student that shall be guilty of talking in school or in recitation shall receive two demerits.

Any student that shall leave the university during study hours, without permission, shall receive two demerits; and should he leave after permission has been refused, he shall receive five demerits.

For any disturbance in or about the university building during study hours, three demerits.

For leaving seat or desk during study hours, two demerits.

For leaving room during study hours, three demerits.

For lounging on streets or about stores, two demerits.

No young lady of the institution shall receive the attention of young men. A violation of this rule will incur a heavy penalty, at the discretion of the faculty.

Young men must not visit the chapel or young ladies' study and recitation rooms, unless invited by a member of the faculty. A violation of this rule will subject the offender to a reprimand from the president.

The laws of the university extend over the whole period, from the commencement to the close of the term, no portion of the week being exempt from them.

Any student who behaves improperly at church, or commits any act inconsistent with the deportment of a gentleman, shall first be affectionately admonished by the president, and, unless reclaimed, he shall request the parent or guardian to withdraw him from the institution.

Every student shall be responsible for damage committed by him upon the furniture or other property of the institution; and for any such damage he shall pay such fine as may be assessed by the faculty.

Permission of absence from college shall not be granted unless for cause of urgent necessity.

No student who is a minor shall open an account without the written permission of his or her parent or guardian, and every student is strictly required to make a monthly report to his parent or guardian of all his expenses.

If any parent or guardian pay any debt contracted, in violation of the preceding by-law, the child or ward so offending shall be liable to expulsion from the university.

The exercises of the university will commence annually on the first Monday of September and continue till the close of the annual examination, the last week in June.

EXAMINATIONS.

There will be an annual examination, at which all the students will be examined thoroughly and impartially in the several studies they have pursued, so that the friends of the institution may judge of the real progress of the students during the previous term. It is earnestly requested that no parent or guardian will permit his child or ward to withdraw from the institution just before an examination. Such withdrawal is regarded as highly disreputable to the student, and will be so announced during the examination.

VACATION.

There will be one vacation during the year, commencing at the close of the annual examination, and extending to the first Monday in September following, when the session of ten months will commence.

MEETING OF THE BOARD.

The annual meeting of the board of trustees shall be held on the first days of the annual examination of the university.

POCKET-CHANGE, Etc.

Pocket-money furnished to students beyond their actual necessities is alike injurious to the students and the university. Parents are therefore guarded against mistaken kindness on this point.

No young lady will be allowed to retain money in her possession, but will deposit it, for safe-keeping, with Mr. S. B. Humphries, or the treasurer of the faculty, who will give a receipt for it, and hold it subject to the call of the owner.

GENERAL REMARKS, Etc.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTIONS.

The faculty will constantly aim to imbue the minds and hearts of the students with a deep sense of honor and moral excellence As the Bible is the only foundation of morals and religion, its teaching will be often and solemnly enforced.

Although the university is a Baptist institution, and belongs to the Baptist denomination, nothing sectarian will be taught in the daily recitations. Especial attention will be given to Sabbath-school instructions and Bible-classes; and every student is required to attend public worship at such place as his guardian or parent may designate. If no special place is designated, the young ladies will accompany the teacher to the Baptist church. All secular studies and correspondence are forbidden on the Sabbath.

THE UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS

are two well-constructed and neatly-finished brick buildings, each two stories high, and sixty feet long by thirty-six wide. They are placed sixty feet apart, and are the wings of the main building, which is to be sixty by one hundred and fifteen feet, and there stories high. The commodious building for the female boarding department will be ready for occupancy by the 1st of September, 1871. A vigorous effort will also be made to erect a similar building to "Paulding Hall," of Georgetown, Ky., for our young preachers, and other worthy young men of limited means. When this building is completed young men can get their board for about $5 a month.

HEALTH.

As a healthy location Waco is unsurpassed—situated on the west bank of the Brazos River, on a sandy foundation. There being no bottom lands for some distance above or below, but a rolling prairie commencing at the bank of the river and extending fifty miles south, gives us an elevated position above malaria or any local cause of sickness. This is verified by the statistics of the permanent population.

Waco University has matriculated, during the last ten years, a greater number of students than any other institution west of the Mississippi River, and during that time has lost but ten students, and six of this number were from measles and other diseases contracted at home.

BOARDING FACILITIES.

Students of the male department board in private families, at convenient distances from the university. Professor R. B. Burlison can accommodate six or eight in his family.

A comfortable boarding-house is provided especially for the young ladies. The services of a competent steward will be secured, also the services of an intelligent and experienced lady will be obtained as matron, to give special attention to health, neatness, etc., of the young ladies. The whole, however, will be under the immediate supervision of the president and his lady, who will occupy rooms in the boarding-house. Every effort will be made to promote order, neatness, cheerfulness, health and moral and mental improvement. Regular hours for study, recitation and rest will be established, and no private families can afford equal facilities for study and general improvement.

The fare will at all times be adapted to students, sufficient, plain and nutritious.

A moderate charge will be made for all extra fires or meals sent to private rooms, or for washing more than one dozen plain pieces a week.

No student under fourteen years of age will be admitted into the boarding-house, except by special agreement.

The price of board, including everything except towels, soap, combs, brushes, and sheets and two blankets, for each student, will be $14 per month, coin, payable invariable in advance, except by special agreement.

Each student will be charged for all the damage done on the building or furniture.

MEDICAL ATTENDANCE AND CORRESPONDENCE.

All medical attention and correspondence will be under the direction of the president.

Every article belonging to a student should be distinctly marked with her full name.

THE LIBRARY

is small, but well selected. The trustees were fortunate enough to secure the library of that eminent scholar, Rev. J. B. Stiller, as a part of the university library; and a portion of the libraries of Rev. Richard B. Parkeson and Dr. D. R. Wallace.

LOCATION.

The flourishing city of Waco is said to be within fifteen miles of the geographical centre of Texas. It is accessible by one daily line and three lines of stages. The hospitality, intelligence and enterprise of the citizens of Waco are widely known. The fact that the citizens of Waco and vicinity, entirely within themselves, during the first year of the war, furnished the university with building, library, etc., equal to any institution within the state, fully demonstrates that their reputation is well founded.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Special attention and facilities will be extended to those who wish to prepare themselves as teachers. A diploma from Waco University will ever be a secure guarantee for competency to teach. Some of our students have become successful presidents and professors of colleges; and we are glad to know our students are eagerly sought as teachers, because of their thorough acquaintance with the character and wants of Texas students.

DRESS.

It is especially desired that the dress of students shall be simple and inexpensive. Simplicity saves time, and thought, and money, which, to a scholar, are precious for higher uses.

The young ladies of Waco University will all be required in the future to dress in uniform, which will be as follows: For spring and summer the color must be pink—either calico, muslin, or lawn—and one of white. Hats of white straw, trimmed in pink ribbons; no artificial flowers. The dresses must be made entirely plain; no flounces or ruffles will be allowed. Plain linen collars and cuffs, except with the white dresses, when a neat lace collar will be allowed, fastened simply with a breast-pin; no bows or any other jewelry permitted.

The winter costume must be sea-green, black sacque cloak. Hats, white straw, trimmed with green ribbon, without either plumes or flowers. The dresses will be made quite plain, no flounces or trimming at all. Plain linen collars and cuffs. No lace permitted for winter wear. This uniform is required on all public occasions, church examination, etc., Now for every day wear. Each student should be provided with an umbrella, thick shoes, and India rubber over-shoes, and slippers, and a warm dressing-gown.

THEOLOGICAL INSTRUCTION.

To all young men preparing for the ministry the president gives, in a separate class, a short practical course of instruction in homiletics. ecclesiastical history, Biblical interpretation, pastoral theology, and Hebrew. The following young men have pursued their studies preparatory to the great work of the Gospel ministry: J. J. Rice, C. B. George, Kit Williams, and V. G. Cunningham. However, all young ministers, after finishing their literary course, are urged to pursue, if possible, a full course of theology in our Southern Theological Seminary, at Greenville, S. C. All young preachers and the children of pastors, or orphans of soldiers, receive their tuition free.

TEXAS EDUCATION.

We have every reason to be satisfied with the amount of patronage we have ever received; yet can but regret the disposition of some parents to send their sons and daughters to distant states. Such parents seem to forget that they are depriving them of many of the sweetest joys of future life—the joy of meeting everywhere old schoolmates, and also of powerful means of success. A student remaining in Waco University three or four years will form intimate and pleasant associations with three or four hundred young men from every part of Texas.

Besides all this, it is a fact that colleges, like states, usually produce their greatest men while young and struggling for "a name and a place" in history. Not less than 300 students are sent out of Texas annually, at a cost of $300,000—a sum sufficient to sustain two such universities as Brown or Harvard; and abundant facts show that young men educated in Texas are every way equal to those educated in older states.

PERMANENCY.

No institution in Texas rests upon a surer foundation than Waco University. Over 1,000 young men in Texas have received instruction from the president and faculty during their connection with Baylor and Waco Universities. Many of these students have already become judges, lawyers, generals, physicians, professors, and clergymen; and in every part of the state there is an earnest desire for the success of the institution. Its present condition is in every way gratifying to its friends, and promises a glorious future. Some important additions will be made to the faculty at the opening of next session, especially in the departments of music, modern languages, and fine arts.

CONCLUDING REMARKS.

The president of the faculty wishes to return his devout thanks to the people of Texas, who have so liberally patronized and sustained him and his associates for the last twenty years. He wishes especially to return his acknowledgments to his old patrons and students, who have manifested so lively an interest in an institution around which cluster all his future hopes of usefulness and success. He invites the co-operation of all who wish to see Texas become as great in learning as she is illustrious in arms.

He now enters upon the twenty-first year of his labors as president, and with increased experience and an ever-accumulating zeal, in the glorious mission of Christian education, to which he has solemnly consecrated his life.
